

APP LAUNCH PRESS RELEASE

CONTACT INFORMATION:

Martin Hoeller
martin@bluebanana-software.com
<https://chimeful.app>

RELEASE DATE:

15 April 2025

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Chimeful: A New macOS App Helping People with ADHD Stay Focused

Florence, Italy, 15 April 2025 - Chimeful, a new macOS app, is designed to help individuals with ADHD and those who struggle with focus, time management, and forgetfulness. By delivering gentle, customizable reminders, Chimeful helps users stay on track, manage tasks, and build mindful habits throughout the day.

Many people with ADHD experience losing track of time, hyper-focus, or frequent distractions, making it difficult to maintain productivity and balance. Chimeful provides subtle, well-timed nudges that serve as cues to refocus, take breaks, or remember important tasks.

“Chimeful is built to reduce overwhelm and help users stay present,” said Martin Hoeller, the app’s creator. “It offers structure without rigidity, ensuring that important things don’t slip through the cracks.”

With seamless macOS integration, a beautifully designed interface, and fully customizable settings, Chimeful adapts to different routines and preferences. Whether for work, study, or daily tasks, it helps users create a more structured and mindful approach to time management.

Learn more at <https://chimeful.app>.

Key Features of Chimeful

- Recurring alerts with customizable timer rules
- Multiple visual alert styles: small overlay, full-screen or default macOS notification
- Choose from various sounds

Availability and Pricing

Chimeful is available for download on the Mac App Store and requires at least macOS 14. The app is free to use with one chime. To unlock unlimited chimes, a subscription is required with an annual option available for $14.99, and a monthly option available for $1.99.

About Chimeful

Chimeful was created by Martin Hoeller, a developer passionate about making tools that improve daily life for people with ADHD. Inspired by personal experience, Chimeful is designed to provide practical, stress-free support for focus and organization.

About blue banana software

Blue banana software is an independent app development studio, founded by Martin Hoeller. It is dedicated to create practical tools for people with ADHD, remote workers and freelancers. Its meeting reminder app, In Your Face, has been featured multiple times on the App Store for its effectiveness in keeping users from missing their appointments.

For press inquiries, interviews, or review copies, please contact Martin at martin@bluebanana-software.com.

Resources

- Chimeful Press Kit
- App Store
- blue banana software website